

A Data-Driven Approach to Aircraft Risk Assessment

Global Distribution of Accidents

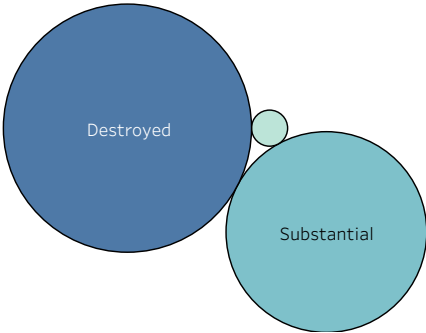

Fatalities per Aircraft Make

Analysis revealed that not all phases of flight carry the same level of risk. A vast majority of accidents are concentrated in the critical periods of takeoff and landing the cruise portion of a flight remains statistically very safe.

Number of Fatalities with Aircraft Damage

Accidents per Flight Phase

